We have been blessed by God the Father with all the Spiritual Blessings of Heaven in Christ.

"Is there anything that we have not received from God"?

It is the instruction of St. Paul to the first Christian communities. What we are and what we have are gifts from God. Christmas is the greatest gift from God the Father; there is no greater gift than His only Son. It has been the best opportunity given to us to see the face of God the Father by seeing and welcoming His Son.

During the Nativity liturgical season, we have enjoyed the mystically captivating events of Christ's birth, admired the wonderful parents of Jesus, and seen the participation of heavenly and earthly communities, angels and shepherds, expressing the undivided unity of heaven and earth.

Soon, in the Epiphany, we shall be surprised by the glorious revelation of Christ to the "pagans," to all nations through the working of God's Spirit and the participation of good-willed people like the Kings coming from the Far East to Bethlehem.

Christ will unite in one family, in one flock, all religions and cultures, all nations, as one nation, as the one family of God. It's a new golden privilege granted to us in this New Year, to be messengers of Christ, God made man, to all nations.

We are, with little merit on our part, beneficiaries of Christ's salvation. However, this privilege carries a great responsibility and challenge: we shall be blessed while we bless others; we shall be saved if we pray and work to share Christ's salvation with others. Failing to do so would be like losing what we possess.

The New Year is a gift from God. Let us, with God's help, renew our missionary spirit, our vocation received in baptism as children of God, prophets, priests, and kings, just as Jesus Christ was. We must be, with the Spirit, the bright star guiding the world to recognise Christ as our Saviour, Redeemer, and King.
